

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Here we go again! In my last president's message, I evoked the possibility of a pandexit for this year. But that was not yet to be. The sixth wave occurred and, as a consequence, we cancelled our planned in-person Spring Forum and held it by Zoom. During the forum, I presented information on what the SARS-CoV-2 virus is all about, how variants arise and why some are worse than others. Maya Goldenberg, Professor of Philosophy, explained why some people, a small minority at least in Canada, are vaccine hesitant, despite a scientific consensus and long history on the value of vaccination and, perhaps more importantly, how policy makers can improve their outreach to counter mistrust. We also learned more about experiential learning on campus from, Elaine Fenner, the new Director of Experiential Learning at Guelph.

Being the eternal optimists, we had hoped to have our annual general meeting on June 16 at the Arboretum. This assumed that our overall level of vaccination is sufficient and ward off visits to hospitals, especially the ICUs, and that lurking in the background there is not a 3.14159 variant ready to do another number on us. However, we have decided to go with Zoom yet again. We urge you to attend the AGM as this is your chance to engage with your UGRA executive, learn what is being planned for next year, approve the budget and, most importantly, elect directors for your next executive.

By now, you will have also received my spring eBlast where I tried to update UGRA members for whom we have current email addresses on what is happening that may be of interest. Unfortunately, we cannot reach members for whom we do not have a current email address by email. If you are reading this in hardcopy and have not received an email blast from your executive, but would like to, please provide your current email address to ugra@uoguelph.ca and we will be sure to update our contact information for you. Anytime you change your contact information, please let us know.

We are pleased to report that through the generosity of our members, we have surpassed the half way mark in our UGRA Scholarship drive to raise $30,000 by the time of the Annual General Meeting to allow the $3,000 award to be offered in perpetuity. We are appealing to those members who have not yet contributed to the UGRA Scholarship drive to help fill the coffers. Those who have donated to the scholarship between the last AGM and the AGM, June 16, 2022, will have your name included in draws for gifts. If you would like to contribute, please go to our website at <https://ugra.ca/scholarship>.

A short history of the current UGRA Scholarship was in our winter newsletter. Since its inception in 2007, 461 donors helped raise about $74,000 for the scholarship, including 92 donors over the past year raising about $15,000. This scholarship has been awarded 11 times and this year will be the first time it is valued at $3,000, a fitting way to celebrate the 30th Anniversary of our association. Elsewhere in this newsletter, four former recipients provided information and reflected on how the UGRA Scholarship helped them achieve success.

Was it something I said? Over the last year, many of our "privileges" have been eroded. It started in the fall when some members noticed that we no longer had preferential parking rates on campus. That was followed by some retirees finding they no longer had off-campus

Call for Nominations

The UGRA Executive Committee is the leadership team that acts on behalf of the interests of University of Guelph retirees:

- " Advocating for retirees on university matters such as pensions, benefits, and privileges
- " Communicating university news relevant to UofG retirees
- " Organizing educational and social events for UofG retirees

At the annual general meeting in June, UGRA members elect persons to the Executive for a 2–year term (2022/2024). All UofG retirees are members of the UGRA, eligible to vote at the AGM, and are eligible to hold an executive position.

The UGRA executive has five officers – president, vice president, past president, secretary, and treasurer – and seven additional directors. Each director is elected for a two–year term. With re–election at the subsequent AGM, each director may serve up to two additional, two–year terms (six years total). The vice president serves for one year and transitions to the president in the following year and then serves as past president for the third year. The positions of secretary and treasurer are normally for a two–year period.

The value and strength of the UGRA depends on a strong executive committee. That strength comes through the nomination of persons willing to commit to building and sustaining the UGRA program. This involves participating in 10 executive meetings each year and volunteering to support and participate in UGRA member activities.

If you would like to be part of the UGRA leadership team (executive committee), or if you know someone who would be a good candidate, please forward your nomination by email and copy the nominee indicating their willingness to stand for election, to the Chair of the UGRA Nomination Committee at ugra@uoquelp.ca.

Life Long Learners!

All members who are inquisitive, keen to learn new things, or just plain bored, check out UPCOMING EVENTS, on the front page of our website <https://ugra.ca/>. There, you will find a chronological list of presentations and short courses offered by CURAC member universities. All are accessible by Zoom, most are free or available for a modest fee. You just might find the thing you didn't know you were looking for.

access to the university library's eResources, though they could still access them on campus through library computers. They could not access literature without hitting a paywall, for journals that the university subscribes to. In addition, last February we received little notice of changes to our email and access to Microsoft 365 and the suite of Office programs. Access to downloaded versions of the Office suite of programs like Word, PowerPoint, and Excel were no longer accessible, although the web-based ones through Outlook were. These issues are being raised with the administration and so far, we have had good conversations with the library about lack of off-campus access to eResources.

When we approach the university administration, we would like to remind the university of the value retirees provide. For example, many retirees still serve on student committees, do research, publish articles, review grant applications for national and international institutes, and perform journal editorial work, assist at convocation and, this year at COVID-19 vaccination clinics, all of which raise the profile of the university. We also seem to punch above our weight when it comes to philanthropy through our support of the UofG United Way and scholarship fundraising. However, we need your input for examples of how we still engage with the university to its benefit and to evaluate how the loss of these "privileges" has a direct impact on this engagement. To address that, we will be hosting surveys over the next few months to gather this information. Even if you feel you are not impacted by the loss of these privileges, we need to know that too.

Finally, your Activities Committee has organized an exciting trip to Costa Rica for February 19 to March 3, 2023 (<https://ugra.ca/news/2022/01/ugra-goes-costa-rica-2023>). The price is fixed until July 19, 2022, but will rise after this date. For those concerned about the potential need to cancel, you can choose an extra cancellation waiver and insurance policy through Collette Travel.

And now, to leave on a bright note, spring is finally with us, the daffodils on the side of the Hanlon are in bloom, the tulips are starting to brighten our flowerbeds, and I am seeing the leaves of at least some of the trees starting to flush.

Since this is my last newsletter as president, I would like to thank our executive for their unwavering support and helping as needed. I would like to particularly thank our secretary, Valerie Allen, for keeping me organized. I would also like to thank those who will remain with the executive but will move to other roles. They include Jan MacInnes who will vacate her position as past president and keep the current one on his toes, Cathy Ralston who will be leaving her treasurer's position after a Herculean eight years beginning in 2012, but has thankfully agreed to continue as newsletter editor, and Pat Shewen who will move from vice president to president. Working behind the scenes, I appreciate the work of Sue Wi-Afedzi for keeping the website and member lists up to date and communicating with the membership and to Vikki Tremblay for her work on activities and the newsletter. Other directors, Gerrit Bos, Alan Filewod, Grant Maxie and Larry Shuh contributed fully to an effective executive. And, of course, I would like to thank our members for their support over the past year and communicating with us on how we can improve UGRA and represent you better.

Peter Krell, President

Spring 2022

UGRA

2022 UGRA Spring Forum Speaker Presentation Summary

The Spring Forum speakers addressed current information about COVID-19. First, current UGRA President, University Professor Emeritus Peter Krell, a virologist, reflected on what we know about the virus itself, vaccines, antivirals, challenges and counter measures, after two plus years. Then, Professor Maya Goldenberg of the Department of Philosophy, discussed her research on vaccine hesitancy, which for many years focused on hesitancy to pediatric vaccines and more recently examined resistance to COVID vaccination.

What have we learned? Like many respiratory diseases, COVID-19 is spread mainly by aerosol droplets. Masks, improved ventilation and air filtration (HEPA filters) reduce aerosol transmission. Dr. Krell suggested that restrictions/mandates are most effective when imposed early, when a rise is first detected, and that restrictions should not be relaxed until cases plateau and then should be lifted only gradually. Education in civics, public health, and critical thinking are needed for people to understand why and when restrictions should be imposed. In addition, funding for Canadian vaccine development and manufacturing will help ensure vaccine availability in the future.

UGRA ADVENTURES

Costa Rica: A World of Nature Tour

February 19 to March 3, 2023

I have visited Costa Rica and loved every single minute of it despite being there in the rainy season and getting soaked. It is absolutely amazing and beautiful.

Some of the best places to visit while in Costa Rica are:

- ! Monteverde – its cloud forests and lush mountains make it feel magical
- ! Tortuguero – black sand beaches and nesting turtles
- ! Cahuita - where the jungle meets the beach about 45 km away from Limon where wildlife is abundant with sloths, monkeys, snakes, lizards and exotic birds.
- ! Manuel Antonio National Park – located on the Pacific, this area offers a wide range of activities for every adventurous soul and amazing beaches.

! La Fortuna and the Arenal Volcano - breathtaking scenery, hot springs, waterfalls and tropical rainforests invite all types of adventurers to enjoy what it has to offer.

There are still spots open for this exciting small group with tour featuring Tortuguero National Park, Arenal Volcano and Manuel Antonio National Park. This 13-day trip from February 19 to March 3, 2023 includes 24 meals. For more information and booking visit <https://gateway.gocollette.com/link/1086206>

Due to the pandemic, it is very important to make sure you protect your travel investment and your well-being while traveling. Collette is offering Worry Free Cancellation Insurance for $449 CAD. Travel worry-free knowing if anything changes, you're protected. It also includes covering you on the tour. If you have to stop your trip or return home early, need medical assistance or evacuation, suffer a baggage loss or delay; or are delayed on tour for 12 hours or more, you're covered. Stay healthy and safe travels!

Where Are They Now?

UGRA Scholarship Recipients

Since the beginning of the UGRA Scholarship Program, the scholarship has been awarded 11 times, as summarized in our Winter 2022 Newsletter. Below, we highlight a few of these students to see how they advanced in their academic career and how the scholarship helped them in alleviating the financial challenges of a university education.

Sarah Wismer (UGRA Scholarship 2016/2017, nominated by Danny Butler)

Since receiving the UGRA scholarship, Sarah graduated with a Bachelor of Science in biochemistry in 2018. In her fourth year, she had the opportunity to do a research project course with Dr. Nina Jones and started her MSc with Nina in the fall of 2018. Her project focused on the molecular mechanisms that promote breast cancer metastasis, and she defended her thesis in December 2020. In 2021, she worked at Integrated Exploration in Guelph doing qPCR COVID-19 testing. In January 2022, she moved to Kingston to work at Octane, as a cell culture research associate. Octane develops regenerative medicine solutions, and she is involved in a couple of projects focusing on bone healing. She stated that she is very grateful to have received the UGRA Scholarship as it allowed her to graduate with less student debt that is especially nice when you finish school in the middle of a pandemic!

computer science co-op degree and graduated in 2021. When he graduated, he was inducted into the CEPS Society of Excellence for academic achievement and contributions to university and community life. After graduation, he was lucky enough to be able to take the summer off (in part because scholarships like the UGRA Scholarship helped fund his degree) and to go on some adventures like end-to-end hiking of the Bruce Trail and going on several multi-week canoe trips in Northern Ontario. Since then, he started working remotely full time as a software engineer at CashApp.

William received the UGRA scholarship in his second year and (at the time of writing) is in his final semester of his undergraduate Physics degree. Since receiving the award, he has learned a lot and had some great summer jobs doing research in his field at the university. In the near future, he is planning to attend graduate school to continue doing Physics research - something that he is become very passionate about since joining the program. He stated that the UGRA Scholarship helped take away the financial burden of school so he could focus on his studies - and he thinks that he benefitted significantly from that! He would like to say thank you to all the donors who have made this award possible.

Aidan Pucchio (UGRA Scholarship 2017/2018, nominated by Antonio Salvadori)

Aidan Pucchio is currently a third-year medical student at Queen's University. During his studies at Queen's, he has become involved in both research and medical education. He published a number of papers on the education of artificial intelligence in medicine and on low vision rehabilitation, a branch of medicine that seeks to support patients who are blind or partially sighted. He has also been involved in curriculum development efforts at Queen's as the President of Queen's Medicine Global Health Education committee.

He felt that winning the UGRA award in 2017 both helped alleviate some of the stress of financing his undergraduate degree and also supported his subsequent application to medical school, where having a named award can significantly strengthen one's application. He is very grateful for the opportunity that the UGRA Scholarship gave him in 2017, and "hopes the scholarship can continue well into the future."

Isaac Wismer (UGRA Scholarship 2019/2020, nominated by Danny Butler)

Isaac received the scholarship in the fourth year of his five-year

Did you know?

The main objectives of the University of Guelph Retirees Association are to foster a mutually beneficial relationship between retirees and the University of Guelph and to advocate for our members in matters such as access to university facilities and resources on retiree benefits. The UGRA works hard to keep our members up to date on the University community through emails, newsletters, and meetings and from time to time, also shares information that is of more general interest to retirees.

The UGRA is run by a group of fellow retirees who freely volunteer their time and talents. The funds needed to run the UGRA come mostly from our members' contributions. With your support we are able to maintain an electronic presence, produce the newsletters, as well as hold the AGM, Spring and Fall Forums and other events and activities to keep you connected to the university and fellow retirees. You can send feedback by email or physical mail.
