UGRA has grown in influence and strength under the guidance of previous Presidents and Executives. The present Executive and I have large shoes to fill to continue to represent our members and to move forward. We have no official bargaining power with the university nor with associations representing employees. We have no mandate to involve ourselves in academic, research administration or physical activities and workings of the university. Nevertheless, we are the living, recent archives of the university and UGRA will come to represent present employees, retirees-in-training. How can UGRA rise to those roles and continue to serve the university’s retirees?

UGRA is progressing with renewed vigour to establish our worth to the university and its daily activities. President Vaccarino at his receptions this year, and in the past, has stressed his enthusiasm to engage retirees. UGRA is pressing his invitation with the administration, particularly aligning itself with the Vice-President External, Daniel Atlin and his team. This year’s first task, following last year’s overtures, is to develop a document of understanding (DoU) to define positively and clearly how a broadly-based synergy between UGRA and the university can evolve. We expect our draft of that DoU to be open to discussion with the President’s office and Daniel this Fall. You will be invited to comment as the DoU unfolds.

UGRA is committed to being available to university employees who are approaching retirement or are newly retired. An UGRA event is being considered. Ideas anyone? UGRA continues its Fall and Spring Forums on subjects of interest to retirees (p. 2). Let us know what you would find useful!

Last year, UGRA ventured into organizing extramural events, bringing members together for informative and social gatherings. The successful dinner cruise on the Grand River was primarily social. The excursion to Sudbury (members joined Guelph’s Third Age Learners) to explore how restoration had progressed from moonscape to thriving greenery was a great success. Then, the ambitious adventure to Churchill, MB has adventurers still raving (p. 5). More such events are planned. All we need are ideas and volunteers. Please step forward!

Last year, UGRA made great strides to raising funds for its scholarship. We still need contributions to make that fully endowed (p. 2). The university has recognized our outstanding contributions (over 10% of the university’s total contribution) to United Way and we remain an important part of the campaign. How can we do more?

The thorny issues of pensions and benefits are priorities on UGRA’s agenda. Major changes are in the offing and our voice is being heard. Our Executive will be opening further discourse with other bargaining units on the serious matters likely to confront them and us. They represent employees who will retire while we represent those who have retired. The link is clear.

I extend my heartfelt thanks to Professor Emeritus Jamie Snell who passed away this summer (p. 4). He was our Newsletter Editor for two years. We will miss him. I welcome and thank UGRA’s present Executive committee whose tireless volunteer efforts make UGRA what it is and what it will become. We thank Human Resources for their continuing support in communications with retirees. The Arboretum continues to provide for our meetings.

UGRA Scholarship Fund

As many of you know, the UGRA scholarship supports a close relative of a retired U of G employee with an award of $1,500. Thanks to special fundraising efforts last year, and a matching gift from Dr. Frances Sharom, there were enough funds to start an endowment to partially fund the award. An additional $8,000 is needed to fully support the scholarship and to get the endowment to $45,000. We're nearly there! To find out more, or make a donation, please visit http://ugra.ca/scholarship/donate or contact Jayne Whitfield, 519-824-4120 ext. 56695.

We are happy to announce that Kylie Evers, twice a recipient of the UGRA Scholarship, and daughter of Sandy and Joe Evers, has graduated with distinction from the Ontario Veterinary College, as Doctor of Veterinary Medicine. Winner also of the American Academy of Veterinary Dermatology Prize and the Kievit Memorial Prize in Surgery, she is now Associate Veterinarian at the West Brant Animal Hospital in Brantford. Congratulations Kylie!

UGRA Annual General Meeting

The 2017 Annual General Meeting (AGM) took place on June 15 at the University of Guelph Arboretum Centre with some 31 in attendance and Robin Davidson Arnott presiding. The draft minutes of the business meeting of the AGM may be viewed at http://ugra.ca/about-us/ugra-annual-general-meetings

The business meeting ended with the election of the following 2017-2018 Board:

Executive
- Peter Kevan – President
- Roselyn Stevenson – Vice President
- Cathy Ralston – Treasurer
- Janis Randall-Simpson – Secretary
- Kent Percival – Past President

Members at large
- Doug Badger
- Betty Clyde
- Charlotte McCallum
- Dana Paramskas
- Frances Sharom
- Glenn White
- Sue Wi-Afedzi
- Vikky Tremblay

Before the business meeting, Daniel Atlin, University of Guelph Vice-President (External) gave an informative talk. His job is to advance the university’s reputation as an academic leader at local, provincial, national and international levels. As such, he is deeply involved in community relations, such as with UGRA. He described recent achievements and capital projects of the university: the Strategic Renewal Framework, increases in enrolment, major research grants and gifts and the installation of the new Chancellor. From his own area, he described the Communications and Brand Alignment projects. Finally, some recent projects and initiatives of direct interest to retirees were mentioned: the Canada 150 events, Healthy Workplace Initiative and work towards a Jointly Sponsored Pension Plan (JSSP) which would start with the Universities of Toronto, Queen’s and Guelph. The JSSP collaboration is expected to help sustain the pension plans at participating universities.

A relaxed and enjoyable luncheon followed the AGM. If you missed this, do try to include the luncheon for the next AGM – the university food service is good as ever and the company convivial.

Retirees’ Social

A very pleasant time was had August 30 at the Retirees Social at the brand new Athletic Centre and hosted by the Department of Athletics. It was well attended and offered a great opportunity to meet and mingle with old friends and colleagues. After UGRA President Peter Kevan said a few words, University President Franco Vaccarino introduced Scott McRoberts, Director of Athletics, who gave an interesting talk about his role at the university and the development of the new Athletic Centre. His extensive background in university athletic programs and facility development elsewhere now enriches the University of Guelph enormously. The Whole Person approach the university takes plays out in many ways across the campus, but especially in athletics. Under his direction, the use of the facilities by students, the broader university community - and well beyond – has increased substantially. So many minds in sound bodies indeed!

After the presentation came a tour of the new facility, led by Scott McRoberts and other staff members. No one could fail to be impressed. We re-convened for further refreshments (delicious!) and socializing. Read on for more detail on this marvelous athletics facility and how you can take advantage of it too.

Jamie Snell

The UGRA lost a stalwart supporter this August with the passing of Jamie Snell at the age of 77. A retiree since 2005, he was persuaded in the Spring of 2015 to be nominated for a position on the UGRA Executive to replace Susan Evers as Newsletter editor. During the two years he served he produced six issues of the newsletter, including the Spring 2017 edition, which was carried out after the diagnosis of the cancer from which he died. During this time he continued to attend Executive meetings and those who were at the AGM in June will remember that he was there, as cheerful as ever despite the oxygen tank he had to drag along. The two years that Jamie served coincided with my term as President and then Past President of the UGRA and I remember with great fondness his humour, his sense of community and his readiness to volunteer whenever there was a job that needed doing. You can find more information on Jamie at:

Didn’t we have a time!
The UGRA Churchill Adventure, August 2017

Twenty-four intrepid UGRA adventurers (and at least as many cameras) explored the Churchill area from August 22 to 29th on an expedition brilliantly planned by Peter Kevan and expedited by Vikki Tremblay’s travel planning. We flew to Winnipeg and then took Calm Air to Rankin Inlet in Nunavut before continuing to Churchill and the Churchill Northern Science Centre (CNSC). It was actually a course on Environmental Studies on the Boreal-Arctic Transition, but it was also a “whale” of an UGRA trip. We needed bear guards when we were outside – and saw enough polar bears (12!) to realize the caution was warranted. In their move to the coast in late summer in wait for seals once the sea-ice forms, some come into town and end up doing time in “bear jail”. One morning our CNSC driver spotted a helicopter delivering a bear to the “hoosegow”, so we got a front row seat … from a safe distance.

There were hundreds of beluga whales in the Churchill Estuary, not to mention caribou, tundra swans, ptarmigans, bald eagles, sandhill cranes, tiny wood frogs, snow geese, Canada geese and the Hudsonian godwit. Plant life too: plumes of mountain avens and red fireweed, reindeer lichen, blueberries, brilliant orange rock lichen, and the characteristic coastal evergreens facing the wind with branches flying like flags.

Our days were packed. We explored the massive rocks on the coast, the taiga inland, got our boots wet in the peat fens and stayed up a night for the Aurora Borealis. There were visits to the old rocket range, to town and Itsanitaq (Inuit) Museum and to the old fortifications at Cape Merry and Fort Prince of Wales to hear the history of The Hudson’s Bay Company trading posts in the 1700s. We saw the Port of Churchill and went beluga watching (and listening) by ship, took dog cart rides and had a day out in a tundra buggy. There were talks at night that helped us understand more about sea ice, polar bears and the disturbing story of the relocation of the Sayisi Dene people. We were fortunate to be at the CNSC for its 40th anniversary gala and a talk by Sheila Watt-Cloutier, author of The Right to be Cold. There was so much more - just ask us! And when UGRA sets up another adventure, you will want to be there!

Roz Stevenson

Did You Know? (a new feature!)

Two little known Retiree Benefits described in the retirement booklet are: in-home nursing services, covered up to the overall maximum of $25,000 per insured person per calendar year of a registered nurse (RN) or licensed practical nurse (LPN). Sun Life will require your physician to complete a Referral Form and may assign a registered nurse to complete an in-home assessment. Contact Sun Life to obtain a Referral Form. The company’s official website is at: https://www.sunlife.ca

For those in a licensed nursing home, under the supervision of a physician there is a benefit up to $20 per day for room and board and normal nursing care. Again, your physician must complete a Referral Form, obtainable from Sun Life, to confirm your requirements. Sun Life will then evaluate the completed form to determine the amount and level of coverage to be provided.

You can review the retirement booklet online by going to the university’s website https://www.uoguelph.ca and clicking on Search tab in the left hand menu. Then select Current Opportunities (HR), which will take you to Human Resources where you click on the Retirees tab. You do not need to have an email address at the university to do this.

Apart from benefits such as pensions and insurance, there are a number of Retiree Privileges you may access. For a description of these privileges visit https://www.uoguelph.ca/hr/retirees/retiree-privileges

Be a Contributing Member of the UGRA (2017)

All retirees are automatically members of the University of Guelph Retirees Association, but our capacity to operate effectively on behalf of retirees depends on members volunteering to become contributing members. This money covers the cost of the newsletter and meeting room rentals for the AGM and the spring and fall forums. It also enables the UGRA to send a representative to the annual meeting of College and University Retiree Associations of Canada.

Please use the attached Contributing Membership Form to send with your Contributing Membership payment. In line with the resolution passed at the 2015 AGM we suggest a contribution of $25 but we welcome contributions of any size whether smaller or larger.

Meetings are held from 1:30-3:30 on the first Tuesday of the month from September to June. A full Board is important for the full and proper functioning of the Association. If you are interested in working on behalf of your fellow retirees and have some time to contribute, please consider letting your name stand, and complete the contact-us form at http://www.ugra.ca/contact-us.

The United Way Campaign

Once again, the United Way Campaign is on. You should have already received your letter and donation form by mail. The money raised goes toward 54 service agencies and their 88 projects in the Guelph Wellington Dufferin region. The university places a great importance on this campaign and UGRA and its members can be proud of their ongoing commitment, as recounted by President Vaccarino in his glowing letter of July 31 to UGRA President Peter Kevan.

Catherine Carstairs and Peter Routledge are the Co-Chairs of the campus campaign and Antonette (Toni) Pellizzari is the UGRA rep. The university’s goal this year is to raise $620,000… and beyond. With your help, it can be done.
